Thank you for your continued dedication and outstanding service to our community through your partnership with Carter BloodCare.

We appreciate this opportunity to introduce ourselves: Dr. Barbara Bryant, Chief Executive Officer with Carter BloodCare, and Dr. Richard Gammon, Chief Medical Officer. We share extensive health care backgrounds in the fields of blood banking and transfusion medicine, having served with organizations such as the National Institutes of Health, Versiti and OneBlood, among others.

Now, we are grateful to join the talented team of one of the best and most well-respected nonprofit blood centers in the United States. We are equally proud to contribute to Carter BloodCare's successful history and our partnership with you in ensuring the health and well-being of our Lone Star community.

We look forward to working together and thank you for the opportunity to save local lives by making transfusion possible.

Sincerely,
