Re: Enrichment Lab Level II Invite

Please mark your calendars for this year's Enrichment Lab! This event will be on-site at the Texas Star Golf Course and Conference Center (address below). There is limited seating available, registration will be on a first-come first-served basis. To ensure availability for everyone that can attend, please only register once your attendance can be confirmed. Confirmation closer to the event will be required to hold your place. We look forward to seeing you!

Blood Bank

Refresher Course Level II

This program will review moderate to advanced serologic testing techniques, including adsorptions and antibody titration studies. Learn how to identify transfusion complications and navigate transfusion reaction investigations. Review an implementation overview of low titer group O whole blood and liquid plasma within massive transfusion protocols at a Level I trauma center. Appropriate for medical and laboratory professionals with a intermediary understanding of blood bank concepts and knowledge.

Course Agenda:
Examples on how to determine if a cold or warm autoantibody is present, excluding underlying alloantibodies with different adsorption techniques.
Review of symptoms of transfusion complications and guidelines for transfusion reaction workups.
Detailing of different types of titration studies, including quality control requirements and their uses in transfusion medicine.
Testimony on how to implement low titer group O whole blood and group A liquid plasma within massive transfusion protocols at a local level I trauma center.
Case study examples demonstrating how to analyze serologic test results of complex antibody identification workups and review of applicable blood group systems.

5 Contact Hours Continuing Education
